

45th Annual Conference of the International Merleau-Ponty Circle.

Oct 29-31, 2020

Western University, London, Ontario, Canada

The Phenomenology of Perception remains Merleau-Ponty's most influential contribution to challenging mind/body dualism and to understanding embodied perception. Thinkers from a diverse range of disciplines including critical phenomenology, feminist phenomenology, critical race theory, critical disability studies, Indigenous philosophy, as well as cognition and neuroscience, have entered into dialogue with it in significant ways. On the occasion of the Phenomenology's 75th Anniversary, papers are invited that explore aspects of these dialogues. Papers that take up historical, textual and/or contextual analysis of this text are also welcome.

The conference is directed by Helen A. Fielding and will feature the M. C. Dillon prize and lecture for the best graduate student paper submission. Plenaries will be delivered by Donald A. Landes (Université Laval), Dolleen Tisawii'ashii Manning (Michigan State University) and Evan Thompson (The University of British Columbia).

Submissions of no more than 3500 words should be prepared for blind review and sent to Helen Fielding at hfieldin@uwo.ca for June 1, 2020.
